Faced Island Life last out, chased the pace in between rivals, prompted midway on the turn to keep up while still being two wide and was outfinished for third. Winner came back to run third in the F & M Summer stakes.
Will get class relief tonight, but m ore of an underneath consideration.

Spurred away clear last out across town, challenged by the odds on favorite midway on the turn, put in a solid fight until mid-stretch and then gave way late to lose second to a pair of rallying rivals. Third place finisher came back to win clear in a $6,250 claimer last week. Draws inside her main speed rivals and kept in a protected spot by strong connections. Leading rider jumps back aboard.

Bumped around at the start last out, continued to be bumped early, angled well off the rail on the backstretch, stayed wide on the turn and finished willingly to be second best. Prior two efforts fit very well with this group including being well clear o f a couple of these two back. Can win off and on the pace and shrewdly spotted in this protected spot. Must respect.

CLOSER LOOK: Sat a loose pocket trip last out, angled out in the lane, responded well and held off a late charge of a rival who runs Saturday. Adds two pounds for this one and should be able to work a similar trip tonight. Main hesitation is this Byo gelding has recently failed to put in two strong efforts back to back.

Showed brief speed against a much better group last out across town and tired midway on the turn. Has a win over this surface, but was not competitive against a couple of these in his last start at this distance. Switches barns for his comeback and also switches riders. Prefer others.

Returned off a seven week layoff last out, stalked the pace along the inside and failed to rally. Third place finisher came back to defeat a field that included Bonus Tornado. Sat a very good trip prior to the layoff at this level and ran a good second. This field is a bit better than that field and has taken another six weeks to return for this one. Prefer others with more regency.

Need the lead runner failed to get near the lead last out and failed to threaten. Was able to get that lead in prior two starts and proved a tough runner to get by. Main speed threat tonight is a runner dropping in class and coming off a layoff from a voided claim. Must respect as this runner should get the lead. Leading rider stays aboard.

Stumbled at the start, stalked a trio of runners heavily contested the pace, angled outside a tiring runner late on the turn, angled inward in upper stretch while the remaining two front runner bumped and dug in to prevail late. Solid start for this barn and should be able to lay close against this group.

Leaned back at the start when last seen, came away slow, stalked the pace four wide, continued wide on the turn and failed to respond when prompted. Was a voided claim in that race and has a handful of work at the San Luis Rey training center. Does attra ct the services of a solid rider and has the speed to easily contest the pace against these. Looks to be a win or out candidate. -George Duarte

Tried the daytime oval last week, rider hustled this runner early, was hung very wide into the turn, continued widest in the lane and kept on respectfully in lane with all things considered. Drops into a reasonable spot for night time debut and figures to sit a stalking trip. One to consider from a strong barn.

Came away well last out, dueled inside rival early, drifted out a bit on the turn, was able to shake clear late on the turn and held safely while being ridden out. Takes on a field that has been facing better and will have a harder time contesting what figures to be a faster pace. Top rider does stay aboard, but is more of an underneath use for me. -George Duarte

Took on tougher last out three weeks ago, failed to show any speed and failed to show much. Looks to me like the strong outty efforts three and four back have taken a little starch out of this runner. Surprised to see this

Was not asked for speed leaving the gate last out against a couple of these, saved ground into the turn, aggressively moved late on the turn and swung wide into the lane, was in range early and flattened approaching the final furlong. Put in a respectable effort in prior start at this distance when dueling inside a pair of rivals. Should enjoy the cutback in distance and should be plenty fit third time off the layoff.

Was a bit washy last out, tracked the pace along the inside, continued to save ground on the turn and rallied unimpeded along the rail to win clear. Barn has been doing well as of late including blowing up the board on opening day of the daytime meet las t week. Draws well outside most of the speed and one to consider.

CLOSER LOOK: Came away a bit slow on debut, kept to a hand ride and improved into a 9.87 final eighth. Second place finisher came back to run second in a maiden in their next outing. Worked outside debut winner Toby Sis on March 29th, shifted out at the start and was ridden along. Worked inside same workmate on April 12th, came away better and small filly kept to task throughout. Gets a negative post switch.

Solidly bumped shortly after the start last out in a trial, bumped again early by same rival, drifted in when asked right handed and was unable to rally. Quick filly was hampered last time, but showed that speed on debut in a romping win and is strictly the one to beat.

CLOSER LOOK: Was fractious in the gate, came away well enough, kept to task and proved second best. That was a solid effort off that long a layoff and only having a turn and work in preparation. Barn s main rider hops aboard and should have no issue with this rail dr aw. Figures to improve second start off the layoff and one to consider in this well matched group.

Hit the outside part of the gate when last seen, came out a couple paths, floated out by lugging out rivals and failed to threaten. Came away well in prior two starts and those efforts fit with this group. Makes her sophomore debut for a new trainer and rider opts for this one over stablemate. Would have liked to have seen a gate work, but barn is more than capable off the layoff. -George Duarte

CLOSER LOOK:

Came away with a wide path last out, drifted out late and proved best into a solid 9.75 final eighth. Second place finisher came back to win clear last week in a maiden race and a couple others ran second and third in their next outing. Worked very well in lone work prior to debut and has loads of upside. The one to beat.

CLOSER LOOK: Faced a few droppers last out from this post, bumped with rival leaving and steadily weakened late. Hard trying filly fits better at this level and has good gate speed. Her finishing ability is her main issue, but is not taking on the quickest group and can easily get the jump on these.

Faced a tough group when last seen as a fresh gelding, bumped solidly at the start, dropped back early and was not asked for run. Returns off a nine month layoff and is realistically spotted for this comeback. Has a turn and work for preparation and more than capable rider takes the call.

Came away awkwardly last out, was head high early and failed to keep up. Lost all chance at the start on debut and is better suited at this level. Works prior to debut leave a lot to be desired, but could put in a better showing against these.

Leaned back at the start on debut, bumped with rival, crowded and had to take up in a rough debut. Came away ok in May 10th work prior to debut, was mildly ridden along early and rider stood up for the final fifty yards. Draws a tricky post inside a runner who tends to break in and outside a quick breaker.

Lost hind end at the start from the outside post last out, kept to a hand ride and finished ok to the wire. Has not been the best out of the gates, but is incrementally improving her finishing ability. Takes on field full of runners that lack much kick l ate and could prevail if able to stay close enough early. -George Duarte
